Dear Paul:

I look back on my visit to [redacted] with enthusiasm. I was impressed by your Company's capabilities and the technical complexity of the efforts you have underway. Your briefing and tour contained the proper balance between overview and technical details, and provided me with the background I needed to relate your efforts to my overall responsibilities. I appreciate the effort that you and your personnel devoted to my trip; the briefings, tours, and discussions were presented in a manner that makes me feel comfortable in discussing the implications of the program.

Please convey my thanks to all those people who were involved in preparing for my visit. Their willingness both to respond on such short notice and to participate during their weekend is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

George Bush
